SAINTS MAKE A SORRY SHOWING; BOTH SIDES ERR

Great Sunday Crowd Sees California Win Third Straight Game—Joy Hit Hard.

University of California 10, St. Louis 5.

Perhaps there was too much at stake to suit the nerves of the St. Louis players, for it was pretty generally understood that a wad of money was bet on yesterday's game, with Saint supporters giving as good as 10 to 7. At any rate, the team played very flimsy baseball, making seven costly errors behind Barney Joy, who was himself touched for 13 hits. It was a bushy game, but interesting withal, because the college boys were none too steady themselves, and up to the seventh frame the break might have come either way.

Opposing Joy was Gefkin, who pitched his team to victory in the initial game of the series last Thursday. He was not quite as steady as the first time out, hitting three batters, passing one, and getting one wild throw out of his system. On the other hand, he struck out 11, and allowed seven scattered hits, the opposition getting more than one in only a single inning, the first.

Much was expected of the new St. Louis team, but while the individual players showed well at times, the team as a whole didn't look good. It may come together with practice but at the present time it is very shy on teamwork, and what might be termed the unit attack. Some of the work on bases was very poor, but whether this was due to faulty coaching or bad judgment on the runners' part, is hard to say.

The game, which was witnessed by a crowd even larger than that of last Thursday, opened badly for the Saints. The California players had evidently received full and explicit information as to the peculiarities of Big Barney, for the first two batters dumped little bunts just where Joy doesn't like them, and both went for hits. A nice sacrifice put Young on third, and he scored a moment later on a wild pitch, Dodson taking third, and coming home a minute later on a sacrifice fly by "Wiki-Wiki" Rubke. A hit and an error gave two more men life, but Hayes' pop first ended the frame without further scoring.

Zerbe made the circuit for the local on an error by short, a sacrifice, a steal of third, and Sebastian's error at the plate.

The third was the big scoring inning. Joy opened by walking Dodson and Adair. Rubke fanned, but when Sebastian's fly got away from Aylett, the scoring commenced. Gianelli fanned, but Hayes hit scored Sebastian, and a moment later Gefkin's single, coupled with an error in center, let in Hayes. Four runs.

The Saints came in life in their half, Janssen being passed and going down on perfect bunt by Zerbe, toward third base. Gianelli tried to field to second, but threw wide, the ball going to center, where Adair booted it badly. Janssen scoring, and Zerbe going to third on the mix up. He scored a moment later on a wild pitch. Aylett struck out, and then Devine was dropped cold by a pitched ball over the ear. Buckle, who ran for him, stole second and scored on Swan's long hit to left. The latter was thrown out in an attempted steal.

In the fifth the local put another man across. Aylett hitting to the right foul line, stealing, and scoring when Joy hit to center, and Adair booted the ball. That ended the run getting for St. Louis.

One run in the fifth and three in the unlucky seventh put the finishing touches to the Californians' collection. In the latter frame three hits, one of them a two bagger by Dodge and two costly errors, contributed to the general result.

In the fifth inning Umpire Bruns exercised his right to chase a player from the game, something that the silent field arbitrator very seldom does. On the return of a ball from center to second, Bruns called Joy safe on the bag, and Hayes said something that brought about his immediate banishment. Hayes was evidently surprised, but had the good judgment to retire gracefully.

Bunts and Bounders

The bleachers in deep left hung out the S. R. O. sign yesterday.

"Augie" Dreier's one error on first was excusable. It was a hard chance.

The presence of the St. Louis college band was much appreciated by the fans.

Janssen on second base is worth watching. The St. Louis lad looks like a comer.

Soldier fans are giving baseball a big patronage. They form a large percentage of the total gate.

Three big crowds in four days will help the park management to get on the right side of the ledger.

Aylett in right field dropped a hard, low-curling fly that might have gone as a hit as well as an error.

It is more than two years since the local fans saw Buckley in action. He wore a J. A. C. uniform then.

Pitcher Gefkin can also slam the ball. He "chokes" the bat and usually drives on a line or strikes out.

The press facilities at Athletic park are now up to big league standards, and the scribes are duly appreciative.

Ladies who did not care to undergo the discomforts of the old park, are becoming regular patrons of the new plant.

St. Louis has a lot of power in the team if "Foxy Pat" Gleason can get it into action. Yesterday the team lacked cohesion.

Buckle had all kinds of pep behind the bat and on bases. On the coaching line he indulged in a sort of Indian trot that pleased the left field bleachers immensely.

Some canvas stretched in the back of the grandstand to shut out the sun off the people in the stand would be appreciated by several hundred perspiring fans and fanettes.

Joy had one fine inning yesterday, the second. Otherwise his work was somewhat off color and made still more so by some very ragged fielding.

Zerbe's slide to first in the seventh saved an out. The throw was short and high, pulling Dodson off the bag, and by hitting the dirt Zerbe passed under the tag.

The Japanese still have trouble when on bases because they are frightened to run wild. Taking chances is all right but taking desperate chances is never good baseball except toward the end of a critical game.

Mamiya at third base gave a grand exhibition on Saturday. He fields in a peculiar style, taking a grounder on the short hop. When successful, these stops are spectacular, but the ball has to be perfectly judged.

Pitcher Dodge was wild enough to make his early work look bad on Saturday. He would get himself into the hole with two or three balls and then would have to put over straight ones and trust to luck and his fielders.

Extreme rightfield in the new park is hard to play because the foul line runs close to the fence and the bleachers and a large pipe appears above the ground a few feet from the fence, making low balls difficult to judge, and to handle.

That big hole over second base will have to be plugged up before the Saints can have an effective infield. Yesterday half a dozen grounders shot past Joy and either just to the right or to the left of second Cowan made tries for one or two but failed to knock them down.

Moriyama pitched a nice game Saturday, his drop ball working well, but he began to weaken after the fifth inning, losing much of the "stuff" on the ball and then the Californians started to hammer him hard. Up to that time they had only been getting pieces of the ball.

Gefkin, the sorrel-topped California pitcher, is almost as nifty a performer at first base as Captain Jimmy Dodson. Gefkin was on first in Saturday's game and scooped a lot of low throws out of the dirt. On the other hand, Dodson, who was in left field, played to far toward center several times and once a high fly fell safe that he would have captured had he been in better position.

Adair in center field had a bad day yesterday. Two hits into the field filtered between his legs and allowed base runners extra bases. John McGraw, the great leader of the New York Giants, always coaches his outfielders to stop the grounders at all.

2ND INFANTRY ANNIHILATES THE PUNAHOU TEAM

The Punahou Athletic club, minus Al Castle and Lieutenant Lyman, went under Saturday afternoon on the Fort Shafter diamond to the 2d Infantry team by a score of 15 to 2. Lyman started for the Punahou but gave way for the other "Bill" Hampton, in the sixth inning. Easter also gave over to Reed for the infantry after two innings and the latter was likewise relieved and by the reliable Sloan after two rounds. Sloan, who has been dubbed "Tod," probably because he would make about four of the jockey, was in his usual good form and let the town team down with one hit and stopped all run-getting in the five innings that he worked; and, in addition to that fine piece of work, slammed out two hits, one of these being a homer of the "positively longest ever" variety. It was a screamer to far left and was only stopped by the set of officers' quarters in its path. Sterquel was also in the home-run class with one, and Zuwalaki was credited by the scorer with a similar effort, although his was not a clean one but took a lucky bound. Notwithstanding the three errors charged against Brewer his work at short was high class and was the fielding feature of the visitor's side. Sterquel, for the soldiers accepted five without error.

CALIFORNIA AND COAST
DEFENSE PLAY TUESDAY.

The University of California ball team will try conclusions with the fast Coast Defense team at Athletic park tomorrow afternoon at 3:30. The game was originally scheduled for Wednesday, but was put forward in order that the California collegians might make a trip to the volcano, leaving Wednesday. They will return Saturday morning.

Lawson will pitch for the big gunners, and Dodge will probably work for California.

hazards, whether or not they are in a position to make quick pickups and throws. Adair's misuses were evidently due to the fact that he hurried himself in order to shoot the ball back toward the plate and head off the runners, but it was the old story—the more haste the less speed.

The soldiers who made the disturbance in the grandstand on Saturday were simply over-enthusiastic, but they got so boisterous that a policeman had to be called, and when Captain Duke Kahanamoku finally acted after warning the chief offender, he acted quickly. There is a line between legitimate cheering and boisterous conduct and the boys in khaki overstepped it from excess of zeal. It was their slouchy and disorderly appearance, and personal abuse of Umpire Statten, rather than their actual rooting, that got them into trouble. The many soldier fans in stand and bleachers were the ones who regretted the incident most, for, as one clean-cut young fellow remarked, "Five bucks like that are likely to get $5000 men in bad."

CAN'T BE DONE.

"Children," said the teacher to his pupils, "you should be able to do anything equally well with either hand. With a little practice you will find it just as easy to do anything with one hand as it is with the other."

"Is it?" inquired the urchin at the foot of the class. "Let's see you put your left hand in the right hand pocket of your trousers."—Ladies' Home Journal.

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, June 15.—That the Cavalry should be able to shut out Lieut. Sadtler's fast and usually hard-hitting aggregation came as a surprise yesterday afternoon, but it was a well deserved victory for Hickey, the Cavalry pitcher and his eight backers. Hickey pitched star ball until he strained his arm in the ninth inning. Oaks came in from right field and took his place. Judd was on third, there was one out, and two strikes on M. Mason, who was at the bat. It was not the first time that Oaks has been called upon to pull his team out of a hole, and he proved himself equal to the occasion this time as he has many times before. He made "Mike" Mason bite at the first ball for his third strike, and when Lechman hit the second ball he pitched high in the air, to Renowski, the game was over, the first shut-out of the series.

Except for three balls that Donaldson dropped at first and two wild pitches by Duncan, the Cavalry's fielding was perfect. Hickey had an unusual number of chances and handled them all well.

Shomo was a new man in the box for the 1st Infantry, and shows promise of being one of the best. He fielded his position well, allowed but a few scattered hits, but was unable to strike out a single cavalymen. Heaton let a grounder get by him. Mount and M. Mason each made a wild throw, otherwise the 1st Infantry's play was without a fault. Their chief weakness seemed to be in not being able to find Hickey's groove.

Cavalry to Play Tie.
The Field Artillery have applied to postpone their game with the 2nd Infantry next Wednesday, on account of half the regiment moving into new quarters this week. If this game is postponed the Cavalry and 25th Infantry will meet on Wednesday to decide the game that went to the 16th inning on May 30, when the game was called on account of darkness, with the score 7 to 7. Should the Cavalry win this game three teams will be tied for first place, the 25th Infantry, Coast Defense and Cavalry.

Strong efforts are being made to schedule one or more games with the University of California, and it is possible that they may play at Schofield the latter part of this week. It was decided by the old Athletic council that the team to represent Schofield against the league at the time, as highest in the league at the time, as was not deemed advisable to get up a post team just for one or two games in the midst of a regimental series.

ENGLISH DEFINITION OF AMATEUR OARSMAN IS VERY RESTRICTED

[Associated Press]
NEW YORK, June 14.—That the English are somewhat prone to evolving rules which appear to work hardships on foreign entrants can be seen from a glance at the regulations which govern the famous English Royal Henley regatta. Two American eight-oared crews are to row in this greatest of all English rowing regatta July 14, when the Union Boat Club and Harvard second varsity eights race against the best crews of the British Isles. In order to be eligible to compete the present and former Harvard oarsmen had to certify that they were amateurs under the English definition which states that a competitor is not an amateur in the Henley regatta's eyes.

"Who has ever been employed in or about boats, or in manual labor, for money or wages."

"Who is or has been by trade or employment for wages, a mechanic, artisan or laborer, or engaged in any menial duty."

Another restriction provides that no "eight-oared, four-oared or pair-oared crew shall be allowed to compete if within four weeks prior to the commencement of the regatta the crew shall have been coached during any practice in rowing, or controlled or directed in training by any person not considered an amateur oarsman, sculler and coxswain under the foregoing definition."

Smith started the ninth with a safe hit through short, made second on a passed ball, where he watched Washington fan. Collins was out on a foul that Hundley gathered in close to the bleachers. Smith raced the ball to third after the catch and got there first. Woods singled to right and made second while Doyle legged the ball. Smith scoring. Willis hit a grounder to Hixenbaugh who thought he could catch Woods in his flight to third, but Woods was too fast for him. Waterhouse made first on a bunt to Lawson and scored. Willis scored when Collins hit a hot one to Hundley. Hundley made a pretty stop but Collins beat him to the bag. Williamson was the third out with a fly to center field.

The Coast Defense have entered a formal protest on the grounds, that Smith left second base in the ninth inning before Hundley caught Collins' foul, and that field umpire Byrnes should have called Smith out when Howard tagged him at third. It being alleged that Byrnes admitted afterwards that Smith did not wait until the ball was caught.

The protest will be decided according to the rules of the league by the representatives of the other four teams, and the game will either stand or be played over.

The three runs scored by the 25th Infantry after Smith was called safe did not, however, affect the outcome.

25TH JUMPS
INTO LEAD IN ARMY LEAGUE

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, June 15.—A game that brought almost the entire garrison of Schofield to the Athletic Park Saturday afternoon resulted in a decided victory for the 25th Infantry over the Coast Defense, and placed the former team at the top of the Army League. After the game the 1800 25th Infantry rooters almost went wild with joy, for this was one of the deciding games of the series, and the Coast Defense had beaten the 25th in their previous game on May 10 by a score of 4 to 3. There are only 12 more games in the series so that the race for first place seems to be between the Coast Defense and 25th Infantry and 4th Cavalry.

Willie Back.
In the fifth inning Willis was sent in to bat for Rhodes and took the latter's place at third for the remainder of the game. He seemed to be very careful of his arm and did not throw to first in practice, nor did he have a chance to do so in the game. It has been over two months since Willis injured his arm pitching against the Portuguese team. Though Willis is still conceded to be the star of the 25th in the box, both Phillips and Waterhouse have developed into mighty good twirlers. The only hits that the Coast Defense were able to get from Waterhouse's delivery in this game were two prety bunts by O'Hara. For the first seven innings Lawson had the 25th eating out of his hand except when Cullen's fore leg with a home run, but in the eighth frame his support gave way and in the ninth he allowed four safe hits.

How Runs Were Made.
Cullen was the first man up for the 25th and hit to O'Hara who made a pretty stop and pretty throw, but Hundley let the ball go through him and Cullen went to second. Willis was sent to O'Hara to Hundley. Cullen going to third. Cullen scored when Hixenbaugh failed to field Swinton's hard grounder. Smith hit to Lawson and Washington to Hixenbaugh, both being out at first. Swinton was left on base.

The Coast Defense had still better success in the first inning. Hixenbaugh the first man up drew a pass, and went all the way to third on O'Hara's bunt. O'Hara was safe at first and stole second on the next delivery. Doyle was out. W. Williamson to Smith, and Hixenbaugh drew a throw to third on this play. Smith hurled the ball high over Rhodes' head, Hixenbaugh scoring and O'Hara going to third. Hundley hit to Williamson but was safe when Smith dropped the ball at first, O'Hara scoring. Hundley stole second. Swinton's peg went wide, and Hundley came all the way home for the third score as the ball continued on to center field. Thomas and Quillen closed the inning with easy outs. Coast Defense 3, 25th Infantry 1.

It was a pitchers' duel for the next six innings relieved only by Cullen's home run in the sixth with no one on bases. The fans began to prophesy that there would be no further change in the score, and indeed it looked very doubtful for hits were few and far between and both teams were fielding in big league style.

In the eighth, however, the 25th took the lead, scoring 2 runs on errors.

Woods was safe at first when Howard failed to field his grounder, and went all the way to third when Willis got one by O'Hara. Willis stole second on the next delivery and went to third when Woods scored on Waterhouse's sacrifice to O'Hara. Willis drew a throw to third and scored when Howard let the ball go through him. Cullen beat out a pretty bunt and stole second. Williamson also laid down a bunt but was safe because Hundley did not hold Howard's throw. Hundley, however, made a quick recovery and caught Cullen at third. Quillen closed the inning with a beautiful running catch of Swinton's drive to center field.

Smith started the ninth with a safe hit through short, made second on a passed ball, where he watched Washington fan. Collins was out on a foul that Hundley gathered in close to the bleachers. Smith raced the ball to third after the catch and got there first. Woods singled to right and made second while Doyle legged the ball. Smith scoring. Willis hit a grounder to Hixenbaugh who thought he could catch Woods in his flight to third, but Woods was too fast for him. Waterhouse made first on a bunt to Lawson and scored. Willis scored when Collins hit a hot one to Hundley. Hundley made a pretty stop but Collins beat him to the bag. Williamson was the third out with a fly to center field.

Coast Defense Protest.
The Coast Defense have entered a formal protest on the grounds, that Smith left second base in the ninth inning before Hundley caught Collins' foul, and that field umpire Byrnes should have called Smith out when Howard tagged him at third. It being alleged that Byrnes admitted afterwards that Smith did not wait until the ball was caught.

The protest will be decided according to the rules of the league by the representatives of the other four teams, and the game will either stand or be played over.

The three runs scored by the 25th Infantry after Smith was called safe did not, however, affect the outcome.
